UNDP IEO in collaboration with the Government of Liberia and UNDP Liberia are organizing a webinar to discuss the development of Liberia's national evaluation system in a post-conflict context. Post-conflict conditions are characterized by severe deprivation, abject poverty and distrust among citizens and between them and political authorities.

The webinar will present the efforts made under these conditions to advance the national evaluation system for achieving the SDGs. The focus will be the Liberian experience with evaluations that review government programs and policies and the achievement of objectives and provide evidence to ensure strong accountability to stakeholders. The presentations will also discuss questions about how to develop and coordinate a national evaluation system and how to sustain the progress made in national evaluation.

UNDP Liberia will present their contribution and results in supporting the National Evaluation System, which consists of targeted capacity building activities and joint evaluation, which help to determine the success of Government interventions. The webinar will share the Liberia experience and invites M&E government officials engaged in M&E, evaluation practitioners and stakeholders to join in by sharing their experiences as well.
